

Parties!

Gifted & Talented

Everything about Sheryl Crow's Nashville baby shower was eco-friendly—with emphasis on the friendly.

Host Sara Evans and Crow cut the cake.

"It's so easy to meet people in Nashville," said Sheryl Crow, smiling at her son Wyatt in Emmylou Harris's arms. "I think everybody in town has my gate code!"

ODE TO JOY At 6 months Wyatt Steven Crow already has a guitar (a child-size Gibson), a cause (environmental charity Healthy Child Healthy World) and a crush. "He fell in love with Hilary Swank last week," mom Sheryl Crow told family and friends who'd gathered for a baby shower at a historic private home outside Nashville. "Her smile is so huge; Wyatt was totally enthralled." The party's green theme informed every detail, from a baby T by Wee Generation (the collection of all-natural baby products co-launched by the charity and Seventh Generation), which all the guests signed, to the soy candles flickering in baby-food jars. Although Wyatt may already be flirting with older women, Crow is madly in love with her newly adopted blue-eyed boy: "Poor tortured child. It won't be long before he's thinking, 'Please, let my mom get a boyfriend!'" —K.W.

Sheryl Crow opens presents.

Rusty Russell